Frequently Asked Questions

Q. When will I start peeling?
How much and how long should I expect to peel?

A. Everyone's experience will be different. However, on an average, you will see peeling by day two or three following the treatment. It is possible to see peeling for up to five or six days.

Q: What should I expect during a peel?

A: The level of discomfort experienced depends on the treatment. Most treatments are gentle and create minimal to no burning or stinging sensations in the skin. Dramatic wrinkling, sun damage or acne scars may require a deeper peel, which may cause moderate stinging for a few minutes. Deep peels are not necessary for most skin types and conditions.
